THE MEDIEVAL BOOK AND A MODERN COLLECTOR
Essays in Honour of Toshiyuki Takamiya
Edited by TAKAMI MATSUDA, RICHARD A. LINENTHAL & JOHN SCAHILL
The first paperback edition of this acclaimed study of English medieval manuscripts and early printed books, many items from Professor Takamiya’s own collection.

[A] beautifully produced and scholarly volume [that] approaches infallibility: not only its recipients but the editors, contributors, and all involved in its preparation and production should feel honoured by it. THE LIBRARY

Physically splendid [with] an astonishingly large number of plates. A feast of a festschrift, a banquet of a book that should not be missed. RICARDIAN

THE THORNEY LIBER VITAE
(LONDON, BRITISH LIBRARY, ADDITIONAL MS 40,000, FOLS 1-12R)
Edition, Facsimile and Study
Edited by LYNDA ROLLASON

Begun at Thorney Abbey in Cambridgeshire in the late eleventh century and continuing into the twelfth, the Thorney Liber vitae, records the hundreds of names of those associated with the abbey. Apart from its significance as a memorial book, it is of considerable interest for historical, linguistic and prosopographical research - and for information on an important Fenland abbey. This volume provides the first printed edition of the text, and a facsimile.

THE AUCHINLECK MANUSCRIPT: NEW PERSPECTIVES
Edited by SUSANNA FEIN

The Auchinleck manuscript (Edinburgh, National Library of Wales Advocates MS 19.2.1) is of crucial importance as the first book designed to convey in the English language an ambitious range of secular romance and chronicle, but its origins are mysterious. These essays answer a number of questions as to its making, contents, scribes, and other matters.

WRITING EUROPE, 500-1450
Texts and Contexts
Edited by AIDAN CONTI, ORIETTA DA ROLD & PHILIP SHAW
From a pan-European perspective these essays examine the prolonged and varied processes through which Europe’s different parts entered into modern reading, writing and communicative practices, drawing on a range of approaches and perspectives; they consider material culture, multilingualism in texts and books, book history, readers, audience and scribes across the middle ages.

THE PETERBOROUGH VERSION OF THE ANGLO-SAXON CHRONICLE
Rewriting Post-Conquest History
MALASREE HOME

The first full-length critical study of the Peterborough version of the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle. It focuses on the ways in which it is a particular product of its place and time, putting it into the context of the writing of local and national histories at Peterborough (then an important monastic centre), and examining the alterations and modifications the Peterborough monks made to their source.

THE PROSE BRUT AND OTHER LATE MEDIEVAL CHRONICLES
Books have their Histories. Essays in Honour of Lister M. Matheson
Edited by JACLYN RAJSIC, ERIK KOOPER & DOMINIQUE HOCH

The essays in this volume consider different aspects of late medieval English chronicles. They look at such matters as the history of the book; the Chronicles’ use of portents and prodigies; the use they make of history; and their owners, scribes, and editors. There is a particular focus on one of the most important chronicles, the Brut, and the tradition it founded.

SEALS IN MEDIEVAL LONDON, 1050-1300: A CATALOGUE
JOHN MCEWAN
This richly illustrated volume provides the most complete catalogue to date of known surviving seals from the city of London and its immediate hinterland for the period from the eve of the Norman Conquest to c.1300. It reproduces and lists private as well as institutional and official seals. Colour images of the seals themselves are accompanied by detailed descriptions, while an extensive index serves as an invaluable tool for the navigation of the complex personal nomenclature of the period.

MIDDLE ENGLISH TEXTS IN TRANSITION
A Festschrift dedicated to Toshiyuki Takamiya on his 70th birthday
Edited by SIMON HOROBIN & LINNE R. MOONEY
This exciting collection is centred on late medieval English manuscripts and their texts. It offers new insights into the works of canonical literary writers, including John Gower, William Langland, Walter Hilton and Nicholas Love, as well as lesser-known texts and manuscripts. It also considers medieval books, their producers, readers, and collectors. It is thus a fitting tribute to one of the foremost scholars of the history of the book, Professor Toshiyuki Takamiya.

ROBERT THORNTON AND HIS BOOKS
Essays on the Lincoln and London Thornton Manuscripts
Edited by SUSANNA FEIN & MICHAEL JOHNSTON
The books of Robert Thornton (c.1397 - c.1465) comprise a rare repository of varied English and Latin literary, religious and medical texts that survived the dissolution of the monasteries. Because of the extraordinary nature of his collection editors and scholars have long been deeply interested in uncovering Thornton’s habits as a private, amateur scribe.
Thorton’s collections will remain an essential resource for an understanding of the literary history, and to some extent the mentalité of his time. TIMES LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

ENGLISH VERNACULAR MINUSCULE FROM ÆTHELRED TO CNUT, CIRCA 990 – CIRCA 1035
PETER A. STOKES
A new, distinct script, English vernacular minuscule, emerged in the 990s, used for writing in Old English. It appeared at a time of great political and social upheaval, with Danish incursions and conquest, continuing monastic reform, and an explosion of writing and copying in the vernacular. The writings in which it is used have rarely, however, been studied as a group. This book offers a comprehensive analysis of this important script.

A COMPANION TO THE EARLY PRINTED BOOK IN BRITAIN, 1476-1558
Edited by VINCENT GILLESPIE & SUSAN POWELL
This companion provides the first full-scale guide to the origins and development of the early printed book, covering the significant cultural, social and technological developments from 1476 (the introduction of printing to England) to 1558 (the death of Mary Tudor).
An essential volume [which] deserves a place on every shelf. This is a book that no one will regret acquiring and whose insights should definitively shape future discussion of this subject. THE MEDIEVAL REVIEW

MODERN DISTANT READINGS
Topologies of German Culture in the Long Nineteenth Century
Edited by MATT ERLIN & LYNNE TATLOCK

In nineteenth-century Germany, breakthroughs in printing technology and an increasingly literate populace led to an unprecedented print production boom that has long presented scholars with a challenge: how to read it all? This collection explores the concept of “distant reading” and its application to the analysis of this vast body of work.

ROYALISM, PRINT AND CENSORSHIP IN REVOLUTIONARY ENGLAND
JASON McELLIGOTT

Print has always been seen as a radical, destabilizing force: an agent of social change and revolution. This volume, a study of a remarkable set of royalist newsbooks produced in conditions of strict secrecy in London during the late 1640s, demonstrates how lively, vibrant and exciting the use of print as an agent of conservatism could be.
