THE CLASSICAL TRADITION IN MEDIEVAL CATALAN, 1300-1500
Translation, Imitation, & Literacy
LLUS CABRÉ, ALEJANDRO COROLEU MONTSERRAT FERRER & ALBERT LLORET JOSEP PUJOL
This first comprehensive study of the reception of the classical tradition in medieval Catalan letters, a multilingual process involving not only the Latin and Catalan languages, but also neighbouring vernaculars like Aragonese, Castilian, French, and Italian. It examines the development of classical literacy in the Crown of Aragon and its pervasiveness in vernacular literary masterpieces. The volume includes a complete catalogue of translations into Catalan of works from the classical antiquity through the Italian Renaissance. Aimed at students and scholars of medieval/early modern Iberia and anyone interested in medieval Romance literatures.

WRITING WRONGDOING IN SPAIN, 1800-1936
Realities, Representations, Reactions
Edited by ALISON SINCLAIR & SAMUEL LLANO
Tracks the variations of attitudes to wrongdoing in Spain from the 19th century to the Civil War. Voices and discourses arise in response to the social phenomena associated with wrongdoing. They set out to persuade, to shock, to entice, and in so doing provide complex windows on to social aspiration and desire. The book’s three sections (Realities, Representations, and Reactions) offer distinct points of focus, and move between areas where control is paramount and on the agenda from above and those where the subtleties of emotional response take pride of place.

CELESTINA & THE HUMAN CONDITION IN EARLY MODERN SPAIN & ITALY
RACHEL SCOTT
Celestina by Fernando de Rojas was a popular and influential work of late medieval Spanish literature. Exploring its role as a key interlocutor in European literature and thought, Scott highlights Celestina’s longstanding significance because it engaged with one of the period’s defining preoccupations: the human condition. Each chapter explores themes common to sixteenth-century debates about the human condition, such as self-knowledge, self-fashioning, the formative role of language, the tension between freedom and constraint, as well as the access to knowledge provided by vernacular fiction in the context of early modern censorship.

ROMANCE OF EVAS & BLAQUERNA
RAMON LLULL
Translated by ROBERT D. HUGHES
Credited as the first major work of literature in Catalan and arguably the first European novel, Ramon Llull put forward Blaquerna (ca.1283) as an alternative to the chivalric literature popular in his time. It tells the biography of the virtuos Blaquerna, who is preoccupied with the salvation of the world. Blaquerna is eventually elected Holy Father in Rome, allowing him to reform the whole of humanity. He then retires to a contemplative life and writes the Book of the Lover and the Beloved, one of the top works of mystical literature of all time.

REWRITINGS, SEQUELS, & CYCLES IN SIXTEENTH-CENTURY CASTILIAN ROMANCES OF CHIVALRY

‘Aquella inacabable aventura’
DANIEL GUTIÉRREZ TRPAGA

Castilian romances of chivalry were the dominant form of fiction during the peak of the Spanish Empire in the sixteenth century. From an intertextual perspective, this book examines how the genre developed with respect to the rewriting of previous works, writing sequels of previous romances, and the creation of narrative cycles.

Luis de Góngora & Lope de Vega: Masters of Parody
LINDSAY G. KERR

Traces the processes and paradoxes in the late parodic poetry of Luis de Góngora and Lope de Vega, illuminating correlations between two poets often presented as enemies. Working from the premise that parody provides a Derridean supplément to exhausted, dominant genres this study asks: Why do these erudite poets turn to parody in an age of decline?

THE POTENCY OF PASTORAL IN THE HISPANIC BAROQUE
ANNE HOLLOWAY

Holloway reveals that traditional pastoral tropes and objectives persist in the poetry of the Hispanic Baroque in spite of revisionist or innovative literary practices that may be seen as burlesque, satirical, or otherwise deflationary. The study considers pastoral as a global cultural phenomenon of the Early Modern Hispanic literature of Spain & Latin America, its reverberations reaching as far as Viceregal Peru.

THE VILLAGE WORLD OF EARLY MEDIEVAL NORTHERN SPAIN
LOCAL COMMUNITY & THE LAND MARKET
ROBERT PORTASS

Charts the social, economic and political development of Asturias-León, a region in medieval Spain, from the Islamic conquest to 1031. Using a forensic comparative method, it sheds new light on village society, the workings of government, and the rhythms of daily life. It also maps the contact points between rulers and ruled, offering new insights on the motivations and actions of both peasant proprietors and aristocrats.

CUERPOS PLEGABLES
Anatomías de la excepción en España y en America Latina (Siglos XVI-XVIII)
VÍCTOR PUEYO

Discusses the obsession of the Spanish "Golden Age" with the monstrous, and more specifically with the monstrous as structured into a dual image. Hermaphrodites, Lycanthropes, two-headed creatures. How can we account for their affluence? Is it purely coincidental? What does it reveal about the configuration of the new body politic through which social relations were going to be imagined in the Western World?

LUI S DE CAMÕES
The Poet as Scriptural Exegete
JOHN V. FLEMING

Considers Camões’s famous "Babylon and Zion" both from the point of view of the literary and intellectual traditions in which it participates. Reflecting the poet’s own considerable erudition, Fleming masterfully demonstrates the Camões’s debt to, and participation in, the long and continuing traditions of “spiritual” or allegorical scriptural exegesis in the European Middle Ages and Renaissance.

BEATRIZ TADEO FUICA

An original historiography on fifty years of Uruguayan cinema and the first in English where Uruguayan cinema becomes a case study to reflect upon broader interests of both Film and Latin American Studies, such as the conditions of film archives, materialities of film, relationship between film and politics, and the ways in which films are produced in countries without a mainstream film industry. This ground-breaking investigation unearthed films and videos from private and public archives, from amateur and professional settings, to reflect upon the ever-changing nature of the concept of cinema.

REASONING AGAINST MADNESS
Psychiatry & the State in Rio de Janeiro, 1830–1944
MANUELLA MEYER

Follows the emergence of Brazilian psychiatry, looking at how its practitioners fashioned themselves as the key architects in the project of national regeneration, exploring psychiatrists, Catholic representatives, spiritist leaders, state officials, and the mentally ill. Manuella Meyer investigates the key junctures at which psychiatrists sought to establish their authority and the ways in which their adversaries challenged this authority. Meyer argues that the gradual adoption of punitive configurations of insanity helped sanction socioeconomic and political inequalities during a time of rapid socioeconomic, political, and cultural transformation.

VIOLETA PARRA
Life & Work
Edited by LORNA DILLON

A comprehensive study into the Chilean cultural icon, Violeta Parra, including analyses of her music, paintings, sculptures, embroideries and poetry. Parra is best known as the progenitor of the Latin American New Song but she also carried out cultural research, wrote poetry, created exhibition spaces and worked in the plastic arts. Considering seminal works that introduce a historical and biographical context, new research, and an interview with Parra’s brother, this title is the first in English to bring together the most up-to-date research on Parra’s oeuvre, accomplishments and influence.

A COMPANION TO JOSÉ ENRIQUE RODÓ
GUSTAVO SAN ROMN

This is the first full-length study in English of the work of José Enrique Rodó, one of the great intellectual figures in Spanish and the most important essayist of modernismo, the movement that aimed to attain aesthetic excellence by revitalising Spanish literature. It is organised as an intellectual biography, divided into ten main chapters, starting with context, studying all of Rodó’s work chronologically and ending with his legacy, both immediate and current, providing an up-to-date assessment of Rodó’s writings which bears in mind established criticism and draws widely on unpublished material.

TERRITORIES OF CONFLICT
Traversing Colombia through Cultural Studies
Edited by ANDREA FANTA CASTRO, ALEJANDRO HERRERO-OLAIZOLA & CHLOE RUTTER-JENSEN

A comprehensive view of the cultural and political landscapes of Colombia. Through four clusters – “Violence, Memory, and Nation,” “Space, Ethnicity, and the Environment,” “Body and Gender Politics,” and “Musical and Visual Landscapes” – the volume traverses Colombia through in-depth analyses of citizenship, displacement, local and global cultures, grass-root movements and political activism, human rights, environmentalism, and media production. It provides ways of reading conflict for a much broader audience in Latin American Studies and for those in the Humanities with interests in cultural studies approaches.

EL IMPERIO DE LA VIRTUD
Grandeza mexicana (1604)
de Bernardo de Balbuena y el discurso criollo novohispano
JORGE L. TERUKINA YAMAUCHI

The book offers an updated biography of Balbuena that reminds us of his ties to the Iberian Peninsula, and traces the pre-modern rhetorical, scientific, geopolitical, and economic paradigms upon which Grandeza mexicana is designed. Thus, the work analyzes Balbuena’s encomium of Mexico City as a political prise de position in favor of peninsular émigrés like Balbuena himself, who are allegedly endowed with the moral and intellectual virtues needed to direct the spiritual and temporal life of the viceroyalty, and against the morally deficient criollos and the barbaric Indians.
