THE SACRED SPACE OF THE VIRGIN MARY IN MEDIEVAL HISPANIC LITERATURE
From Gonzalo de Berceo to Ambrosio Montesino
LESLEY K. TWOMEY

Twomey re-examines typology about place for what it tells us about the Virgin Mary, drawing close to major trends in theological thinking, but also seeking to give importance to place, as authors chose the places they believed best represented aspects of the Virgin’s nature: garden, fountain, Temple, dwelling, or fortified stronghold. Refreshes some of the seemingly tired images of the Virgin Mary across the medieval and early Golden Age period in Hispanic literatures.

INTRODUCTION TO A POSTNATIONAL HISTORY OF CONTEMPORARY BASQUE LITERATURE (1978–2000)
Remnants of the Nation
JOSEBA GABILONDÔ

By developing a new theory of postnationalism about the relationship between minor and major literatures, this book chronicles the growth and success of Basque literature after the death of Spanish dictator Francisco Franco (1975), and the historical and literary struggles that subsequently took place to achieve global recognition: the reduction of Basque literature to a representation of an exotic and magic place and people (the Basque Country), best exemplified by Bernardo Atxaga’s novel Obabakoak (1988).

ESTETIZAR EL EXCESO
Cleopatra en la cultura hispánica medieval y del Siglo de Oro
JAVIER JIMÉNEZ BELMONTE

The first scholarly monograph on the Spanish medieval and early modern literary and cultural appropriation of one of the most influential icons of Western culture: Cleopatra VII, the last queen of Egypt. Combining the study of literary, historiographical, and artistic sources, Estetizar el exceso talks about Cleopatra in relationship to some of the main cultural, social and political issues of medieval and early modern Spain.

DOCTRINA Pueril
RAMÓN LLULL
Translated by JOHN DAGENAIS

Ramon Llull composed this work for his son Domènec between 1274 and 1276 to provide minimum knowledge to those who had little doctrinal and intellectual education. The first part is devoted to the catechism; the second deals in an encyclopedic manner with aspects of general culture, such as the three monotheistic religions of the Mediterranean, the medieval educational disciplines, and other medical and scientific subjects.

ROMANCE OF EVAST & BLAQUERNA
RAMÓN LLULL
Translated by ROBERT D. HUGHES

Credited as the first major work of literature in Catalan, Ramon Llull put forward Blaquerna (ca. 1283) as an alternative to the chivalric literature popular in his time. It tells the biography of the virtuous Blaquerna, who retires from being Holy Father in Rome and writes the Book of the Lover and the Beloved, one of the top works of mystical literature of all time.

CELESTINA AND THE HUMAN CONDITION IN EARLY MODERN SPAIN AND ITALY
RACHEL SCOTT
Celestina by Fernando de Rojas was a popular and influential work of late medieval Spanish literature. This book explores Celestina's role as a key interlocutor in European literature and thought, arguing that the work continued to be meaningful because it engaged with one of the period's defining preoccupations: the human condition.

LUI S DE GÓNGORA & LOPE DE VEGA
Masters of Parody
LINDSAY G. KERR
Traces the processes and paradoxes in the late parodic poetry of Luis de Góngora and Lope de Vega, illuminating correlations between two poets often presented as enemies. Working from the premise that parody provides a Derridean supplément to exhausted, dominant genres this study asks: Why do these erudite poets turn to parody in an age of decline?

LUIS DE CAMÕES
The Poet as Scriptural Exegete
JOHN V. FLEMING
Considers Camões's famous “Babylon and Zion” both from the point of view of the literary and intellectual traditions in which it participates. Reflecting the poet's own considerable erudition, Fleming masterfully demonstrates the Camões's debt to, and participation in, the long and continuing traditions of “spiritual” or allegorical scriptural exegesis in the European Middle Ages and Renaissance.

NARRATIVAS DEL DESCALABRO
La novela venezolana en tiempos de revolución
PATRICIA VALLADARES-RIUZ

Explores the intersections of cultural policies, social changes, political conflict, and fiction writing in modern-day Venezuela, examining the literary representation of the changes introduced by the Bolivarian Revolution. From the relationship between the discursive goals of the Bolivarian cultural policies and how authors work within and respond to them; to a series of case studies of a comprehensive corpus of novels published between 2002 and 2015.

EL IMPERIO DE LA VIRTUD
Grandeza mexicana (1604) de Bernardo de Balbuena y el discurso criollo novohispano
JORGE L. TERUKINA YAMAUCHI

El imperio de la virtud offers an updated biography of Bernardo de Balbuena and analyzes the complex interdisciplinary matrix within which Grandeza mexicana (1604) is articulated. This monograph argues that Balbuena accuses both criollos and Indians of moral turpitude, while he credits peninsular émigrés like himself with the virtues needed to govern New Spain and administer the coveted encomiendas.

LA ANGLOMANÍA EN LA PRENSA ESPAÑOLA DEL SIGLO XVIII
LETECIA VILLAMEDIANA GONZÁLEZ

This book constitutes the first monographic study on the cultural transfers from Great Britain to Spain through 18th-Century periodical press, one of the most innovative genres of the period. It explores the notion of anglomanía – the craze for all things English which spread throughout all Europe – and its reactive phenomenon, anglophobia, offering a contextualised analysis of the transmission, reception and adaptation of British Enlightened ideas and reforms in three different types of Spanish periodicals.

WRITING WRONGDOING IN SPAIN, 1800-1936
Realities, Representations, Reactions
Edited by ALISON SINCLAIR & SAMUEL LLANO

Tracks the variations of attitudes to wrongdoing in Spain from the 19th century to the Civil War. Voices and discourses that arise in response to this social phenomena (to persuade, shock, or entice) provide insight into social aspiration and desire. The book’s three sections (Realities, Representations, and Reactions) move between areas where control is paramount and where the subtleties of emotional response take pride of place.

RICH AND POOR IN NINETEENTH-CENTURY SPAIN
A Critique of Liberal Society in the Later Novels of Benito Pérez Galdós
INMA RIDAO CARLINI

Rich and Poor explores Galdós’s treatment of questions relating to the creation and distribution of wealth in the modern money-centred society of Restoration Spain. Focusing on seven of his Novelas contemporáneas from the 1880s and 1890s, Ridao Carlini studies his critical engagement with contemporary debates about the fundamental social changes brought about by the development of a liberal political system and capitalist economy in Spain.

THE VILLAGE WORLD OF EARLY MEDIEVAL NORTHERN SPAIN
Local Community & the Land Market
ROBERT PORTASS

Charts the social, economic and political development of Asturias-León, a region in medieval Spain, from the Islamic conquest to 1031. Using a forensic comparative method, it sheds new light on village society, the workings of government, and the rhythms of daily life. It also maps the contact points between rulers and ruled, offering new insights on the motivations and actions of both peasant proprietors and aristocrats.
